

FAIMER[®], a division of Intealth[®], supports the health professions worldwide through educational programs and research activities. It offers 10 fellowship programs, including its flagship International FAIMER Institute in Philadelphia in the United States, and nine FAIMER Regional Institutes in China, Egypt, India, Indonesia, and Uganda. The goal of the fellowship is to provide professional development in health professions education, scholarship, and leadership.

International FAIMER Institute

The International FAIMER Institute (IFI) is a two-year, part-time, online fellowship program that provides professional development to health professions educators worldwide. IFI Fellows are selected for their potential to play a leadership role in advancing health professions education (HPE) and scholarship. IFI Fellows have the unique opportunity to join and enrich the vast FAIMER global community and develop strong professional bonds with colleagues from around the world.

Core Curriculum and Format

The IFI core curriculum themes include education methods, leadership and management, education scholarship and research, and project management and evaluation.

The two-year program uses an interactive, high-engagement, project-centered approach. Fellows focus on developing, implementing, and evaluating an education project as the “laboratory” to apply their learning.

- Year 1: Fellows attend synchronous, online sessions and focus on developing and implementing their project with guidance from a project advisor and their peers.
- Year 2: Fellows attend synchronous, online sessions and continue to focus on implementation of their project along with evaluation and dissemination of their project findings through formats such as a project report and an abstract.

Faculty

IFI faculty members form a team of educators who design, teach, and provide support for IFI sessions. Each Fellow is paired with a project advisor who offers mentoring and guidance throughout the development and completion of their education project.

Who Should Apply

The program is designed for international health professions faculty who have demonstrated the potential to play a key role in advancing health professions education. Applications are accepted from faculty who have a graduate or professional degree in the health professions and who are currently involved in HPE teaching. The application typically opens in November and closes in January. For more information on eligibility criteria and the application process, please visit faimer.org/international-faimer-institute/.

Free Tuition

There is no tuition or associated cost for participation due to support from Intealth and other benefactors.

“When I started my journey with the FAIMER Institute, I never expected that it would be a journey for life. Once a FAIMER Fellow, always a FAIMER Fellow. Thanks to what I learned at FAIMER, I have been transformed to become an agent for change at many different levels.”

FAIMER Regional Institutes

Like the IFI, the nine FAIMER Regional Institutes (FRIs) are designed to enhance the skills and knowledge of international health professions educators. There are four FAIMER Regional Institutes in India, two in China, and one each in Egypt (Middle East and North Africa region), Indonesia, and Uganda (East Africa region).

FRI programs are based on the model and curriculum of the IFI but each is adapted to the local context to address the specific educational needs of health professionals in its region. FRIs accept a select number of fellows annually, building a vibrant community of educators dedicated to advancing health professions education in their respective regions.
